MES AT OLD POINT. They Came from Porto Rico and It Is Be-Haved That All Will Recover-A Smooth Passage from the Island-Excellent Hos-pital Arrangements-List of the Men.

FORT MONROE, Va., Oct. 8.-The hospital ship Relief arrived at Old Point this morning at 11 o'clock. She brought 282 convalescent soldiers from Porto Rico. The ship was commanded by Major Bradley, who permitted the efficial list of the sick aboard, which follows, to be copied by THE SUN reporter. The voyage from Porto Rico was uneventful and no ugh weather was encountered.

This afternoon all the patients aboard were landed and conveyed to the new Josiah Simpson Hospital. The Relief at 5:30 o'clock this evaning sailed with her complement of surgeons and nurses for New York. The sick anded from the Relief are chiefly suffering from malarial fever of the type common to the latitude from which they came. None is re-garded as dangerously ill, but many are pitiful in their emaciation. The patients were tired, and every one at the hospital was busy preparing for their comfort.

It is not believed that the friends and relatives of those whose names follow need fear that they will not pull through safely. The appointments of the hospital are perfect, and patients there will be as well off as in their own nomes. The following is the complete list of CAPT. GRIDLEY'S DEATH.

Admiral Dewey Writes to His Mother, Giving the Cause of His Demise. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.-Mrs. Ann E. Gridley of this city, the mother of Capt Charles Gridley of the flagship Olympia, who died at Kobe, Japan, while on his way from Manila to the United States, wrote to Admiral Dewey begging him to give her the particulars of her son's illness, and such additional facts as he could about Capt. Gridley's last days. Mrs. Gridley has just received the following answer:

"FLAGSHIP OLYMPIA, "CAVITE, P. I., Aug. 12, 1898. "Dear Madam: Am just in receipt of your letter in regard to the death of yourson, Capt. Charles V. Gridley, and wish to extend to you my most sincere sympathy in your great bereavement. His loss is mourned by all who knew him, and especially by me, whose friend and trusted and gallant assistant he was. His illness began in Hong Kong, but he bravely clung to his post, and not until after the battle and victory in which he assisted so much would he consent to leave his ship and return to fise United States. His death was caused by a complication of diseases, including diarrhose and dropsy, all due to a disordered condition of liver and aggravated by a rupture sustained on the day of the battle. The immediate cause of his death was severe hemorrhuge of the stomach, which occurred at Kobe. This was entirely unexpected; indeed, our surgeon had no idea that it would occur or that Caot. Gridley was dangerously ill, although, of course, it was known that he could not remain on duty.

"It is matter of some gratification to me that I was instrumental in obtaining for him an advancement in his grade for highly distinguished conduct in battle, which he richly deserved, although he did not live to enjoy it.

"With heartfelt sympathy, very sincerely yours. and trusted and gallant assistant he was. His

"LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 8. "Regarding the muster out of Nebraska troops, First Regiment, Manila, reported in poor health, sickness increasing and general desire of men to return home. Four deaths reported to Sept. 1. Third Regiment, Jacksonville, twenty-one deaths, 172 sick in hospital, eighty-five absent on sick leave. Health poor and men desirous of discharge. Many deserving men in regiment entitled to some favorable consideration. Designation of the regiment would work unnecessary hardship on many in the other. Have, therefore, reguested muster out of volunteers in regiments of this State in just proportion on basis 100,000. This by but tallon or individual discharges, reducing companies from 196 to 81 enlisted men. Muster out of entire regiment is in excess and at variance with my original request. In view of prevailing sickness and general desire of men in both regiments to be returned home, cannot consistently designate one to the exclusion of the other. Must adhere to my original request, which would relieve many in both regiments. Understand similar action has been taken with Delaware and Florida troops. Have also requested list of men of Second Regiment who desire to continue in service. If entire regiment is mustered out, must leave designation to your discretion. Letter mailed containing views more fully. Hope for early action.

The Oregon and Iowa to Start for Manila by Wednesday Next.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 .- No change of the orders for the Oregon and the Iowa to proceed to Manila has been made. Some delay has been caused by fire in the bunkers of the eoiller Alexander, necessitating the abandon-ment of the intention to send that vessel with the two battleships, and the transfer of her cargo to the colliers Stering and Justin, which will proceed with the big armorciads on their long voyses. It was said at the Navy Depart-ment to-day that the Oregon and the Iowa would start by Wednesday next. HELD FOR KILLING SAXTON

MRS. GEORGE SENT TO JAIL ON CHARGE OF MURDER.

No Direct Evidence Yet That She Shot Mrs. McKinley's Brother-Her Threats and Her Former Display of a Revolver-Her Absolute Silence as to the Murder. CANTON, O., Oct. S.-The general detention charge of suspicion on which Mrs. Annie E. George was arrested last night and held for McKinley's brother, was displaced to-day by a formal charge of murder in the first degree, and the accused was committed to the county jall without bond for the further routine of the courts. At the same time the case passed from the jurisdiction of the officers of the city Government, thereby revealing a peculiar convietna of being Mayor is also Police Judge and Chief of the Police Department, also practices law, and in much of the litigation in which Mrs. George has figured has been her counsel, either active or advisory, and he was called to her defence in this case, Attorneys John C. Welty and James S. Sterling, who represented Sample C. George, the first husband, in his actions against Saxton, were also retained for the

Because of Rice's connection with the case he did not intend to officiate at the preliminary hearing in police court, but through his police officers had arranged that a Justice of the Peace should occupy the bench as acting Mayor. The prosecuting attorney did not like this arrangement and some hot words were exchanged in the police court room, in which the prosecutor arraigned the Mayor for accepting the defence of criminals brought into his own court, and questioned the sincerity of the Police Department in assisting the prosecution. The prosecuting attorney demanded a direct assurance that the Police Department would be placed at his disposal in the collecting of evidence and in the general conduct of the case, but this was not forthcoming. The City Marshal declined to sign the affidavit prepared by the prosecutor, as did other members of the de partment who were present. The Mayor would do nothing more than say the police had so far done their duty and could be depended upon to continue to do so. The prosecuting attorney thereupon carried the affidavit to Justice Relg. ner's court, where it was signed by Attorney James J. Grant, a close friend of Sax-ton and his counsel in most of the proceedings in court, Judge Day, former Secretary of State, having been associated as counsel in the more important cases.

Mrs. George was taken to the Justice's office for arraignment, her counsel accompanying her. The latter read the affidavit and announced that they were not ready for arraignment on the charge as drawn, and a continuance was granted to 10 o'clock on Monday morning. Mrs. George was cool and collected in the courtroom, and maintained the silence morning. Mrs. George was cool and collected in the courtroom, and maintained the silenos which has marked her conduct since her arrest. Aside from her conversations with her attorneys she has not discussed any feature of the case with any one, and has not attempted to give any explanation of her actions or whereabouts at or near the time of the tragedy. "I will talk when the proper time comes," is all she will say to any one.

The Coronor has begun taking tostimony in the case, and will probably not have the case made up for several days. So far little direct, tangible testimony connecting Mrs. George with the crime has been made up to several days. So far little direct, tangible testimony connecting Mrs. George's oft-repeated threats of violence and her well-established appearance near the seene about the time of the tragedy constitute the case against her.

A telegram from Washington to-day announced that President and Mrs. McKinley will be accompanied by Mrs. M. C. Barber, a sister of Mrs. McKinley, and Mr. Saxton, and John Barber, Mrs. Barber's son, who came home from Porto Rico, where he was an orderly on Gen. Henry's staff. He has just been discharged from a Washington hospital. Mr. Barber, a brother-in-law, said the funeral of Mr. Saxton would be held Monday afternoon, probably at 2 O'clock, but the exact hour and the definite arrangements have not been completed pending the arrival here of the relatives. George D. Saxton was born on Oct. 31, 1848, in Canton, and was a member of one of the oldest and best-known families in this region. His property interests, which are quite heavy. He was regarded as a keen, successful and upright business man by those with whom he dealt. While he had bachelor apartments in his business block, his home was in the old Saxton homestead, now occupied by the Barber family and regarded with national interest because of having been for so many years the home of her McKinleys and the piace of entertainment in Canton of most of the greatest men of the country in the past thirty been at her own home since Wednesday evening, and then only for a few minutes, having been at the home of her brother for some time nursing his sick wife.

"The last time I saw Mr. Saxton was on Monday evening," she said. "I took supper here with my mother, and shortly after the meal George came down. I told him that I would have to go to my brother's, as his wife was ill, and expressed a desire to go home after my wheel. It was slightly out of repair, and George volunteered to go to my home on his own wheel, fix mine, and when I arrived on the car we would ride to my brother's together. This we did, and that is the last time I ever saw him.

"I heard of the occurrence of the tragedy last night while at my brother's. I cannot see why George was there or near there at the time, for he knew I was not at home. I wish to say this: There have been reports circulated that he used to come up to my house, not coming up directly through Tuscarawas street. This is not so. During the time that I have been going with him. he always came right up in a straightforward manner. He has always used me well. I feel very badly over his death. If I had known that this trouble between Mr. Saxton and Mrs. George would culminate in this manner, I would not have gone with him. I tried at one time to put an end to it, fearing that she would carry out some of her threats, but he said he knew she would do nothing, so I thought it would be unfair, to stop going with him after that: I never dreamed she would really do anything of this kind."

In connection with Mrs. Althouse's statement that Saxton knew she was not at home and that she could not account for his call on Friday evening there is a theory that he may have been entired to the scene by a decoy letter sent by or at the instance of the assassin. The nonlice are understood to be making some investigation along this line. Several persons residing near the Althouse home tell of an incident on the street some months ago. Saxton and Mrs Althouse, returning from a monlight beyone and dis walked away with her. Mrs. George is quoted as saying the next morning:

"I will not stand by and see George Saxton going with other women. He has promised to marry me just as soon as my former husband's case against him is settled, and if he fails to keep that promise I will kill him. I'll do it if I hang the next day, but I do not think any jury on earth would convict me after hearing my story."

Sample C. George, the divorced husband of Sample C. George, the divorced husband of on earth would convict me after hearing my story.

Sample C. George, the divorced husband of the accused woman, said the day his case against taxton was settled, in the presence of a number of the attorneys:

"I believe Annie (his wife) will kill Saxton if he does not marry her, now that our suit has been settled."

Mrs. George is not parmitted to see any one but her attorneys and the officers who go in and out of the prison. To the latter she says nothing but the most commenplace things about her comfort or desires. She is making the best of the situation. The City Prison cot has night was made more comfortable for her by material brought in from the outside and good meals were also provided her. She eats heartlly and her slumber last night seemed to be sound and undisturbed.

Aithough she packed up and sent to her mother the other day her household effects, she did not expect to leave Canton. She told Mrs. Oberlin, living in the same house, that she was going to take furnished rooms uptown, but wanted to stay at the house for a few days till she completed arrangements. She baid Mrs. Oberlin double price for the room occupied, because Mrs. Oberlin did not want to rent it. This house is within five blocks of the scene of the tragedy and directly on the streeter arroute and main course from the business part of the city to Althouse home.

Practically the entire police force spert the day searching the neighborhood and the dields Mrs. George is presumed to have crossed, looking for the revolver in the case. It was not found. It seems that Mrs. George want through the public square last night after the shooting. She was at the door of one of her attorneys, Mr. Sterling, but it is not known whether she saw him or any of the others engaged in her defence.

Wassitsorow, Oct. 8.—President and Mrs. Mckinley left this evening at 7:20, over the Pennsylvania hallroad, for Canton, O. Accompanying them were Mrs. Barber and her son, Miss Helen McKinley, Mr, and Mrs. Bowman, and Major Webb Hayes. Young Barber, who is a private in the "President's Own," the Eighth Oblo, and who has been ill in the Garfield Hospital, was carried absand the train on a suretcher. The party goes to attend the funeral of George Eaxton, the brother of Mrs. McKinley, who was killed on Friday night. After the funeral on Monday the President will that evening join the members of his Cabinat upon their arrival at Canton from Washington, and the programme of the trip to the Omaha Exposition will be carried out.

The Coroner began taking testimony this atternoon. Henry Bederman, who lives diagonally across the street from the Althouse residence, testified that after hearing two shots and going out to see the cause he saw a woman in dark clothing walking deliberately from in front of the Althouse residence. Then there was an going out to see the cause he saw a woman in dark clothing walking deliberately from in front of the Althouse residence. Then there was from the step a barely and libe cry for help. The woman quickly turned, and going to the step fired several more shots, and in the light of the fashes of these the wilness saw the outlines of a man. Then the woman ran away hurrledly. He did not recognize the woman, but knew Saxton.

The other testimony taken was unimportant. If Mrs. George did not see her attorneys last night between the time of the shooting and her arrest, it was not because she did not try to do so. The woman who runs the elevator car leading to Attorney Sterling's office says Mrs. George came to the car and was recognized as a frequent visitor at the law office. Being informed that Mr. Sterling was not in, she walked away without going upstairs. From that until the time to call at the homes of the attorneys, or at least at one of them. Her close silence and discretion under questioning amounting to a sweat-box experience lead some to think that she was thus conched.

M. C. Barber, Raxton's brother-in-law, was advised this evening that the McKinleys and the Barber home and will be private

CASUALTIES IN THE NAVY.

Only 17 Killed and 67 Wounded in the Four Months' War with Spain.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.-Some interesting statistics of naval easualties in the Spanish-American war have been compiled by Dr. Van Reypen the Surgeon-General of the Navy. The casualin Cuba, Porto Rico and Philippine waters numbered only eighty-four. The navy's loss in killed for the entire period of the war was seventeen, and only one death occurred in the two big engagements off Santiago and in Manila Say. There were sixty-seven men wounded. One man died of wounds received in the cable-outting expedition off Cienfuegos in the early days of the war, but the other sixtysix recovered or will recover. Fifty-four of these were discharged from medical treatment and returned to duty, six were invalided from the service, and six are still under treat-from the service, and six are still under treatment.

In the battle of Manila Bay nobody on the American ships was killed, and the nine men who were wounded have all returned to duty. One man was killed and eleven wounded in the action off Clenfuegos. One of the wounded died and all except one of the remaining ten returned to duty. In the fight at Cardenas, in which the Winslow was disabled and Ensign Worth Bagiey lost his life, there were five killed and three wounded. All the wounded have since resumed duty. When Sampson's fleet bombarded San Juan, Porto Rico, one enlisted man was killed and eight were wounded. Six of these have recovered and are on duty again.

The engagements between Lieut.-Col

The engagements between Lieut.-Col, Huntington's battalion of marines and the Spanish forces at Guantanamo resulted in the greatest number of casual:les of any single engagement in which the navy had a part. Six men, including Surgeon Gibbs, were killed and sixteen were wounded. Nine of the sixteen have returned to duty and four are still under treatment.

The casualities in the engagement between Sampson's ships and the forts defending Santiago on June 22 numbered ten. A man on the Texas was killed and nine men were wounded. Seven of the nine have resumed their duties. Pay Yeoman Ellis was the only man killed in the fight with Cervera's fleet. The ten men who were wounded in that engagement have all returned to active service. In other engagements the auxiliary gunbout Eagle had one man wounded, the cruiser Hancroft one man killed, the monitor Amphitrite one man killed and the auxiliary cruiser Yankee one man wounded. The last man killed in the Bancroft.

The Alleged Irregularities at League Island. WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 .- A report of the investialleged irregularities on League Island has Advocate General of the Navy with directions for the submission of an opinion whether the naval officers concerned should be court-martialled. The inquiry made by Lieut. Knapp concerned charges of violation of the Civil Service law in making appointments to places in the yard and the payment of allowances which, it is alleged, were not earned.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.-Orders for the transfer of the U. S. S. Fern to the District of Columbia naval militia were issued by the Navy Department to-day. The Fern is now at Norfolk. She saw much service between Havana and Key West just prior to the beginning of hostilities and was used by the American wreekers in their work on the Maine. For many years she was the only supply ship of the navy on the Atlantic coast.

Charles Meredith Du Puy died on Friday at his home, 58 West Forty-ninth street, in his seventy-fifth year. He was born in Philadelphia on Dec. 19, 1823. In 1853 he married Miss Ellen Reynolds, daughter of the late Rev. John Reyholds, an English clergyman. At the time of his death Mr. Du Puy was Vice-President of the his death Mr. Du Puy was Vice-President of the Huguenot Society of America, and was connected with various scientific and other societies throughout the world. Mr. Du Puy was descended in a direct line from Dr. John Du Puy, a prominent Huguenot citizen of New York city, and a member and pewholder of old Trinity Church, in which churchyard his body lies. Mr. Du Puy began life by teaching school in his seventeenth year. Soon thereafter he became interested in the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, In 1854 Mr. Du Puy made an exhaustive examination of the Illinois Central, and his report was so favorable that it did much to inspire confidence in the enterprise. He organized the land department of the company. In 1894 he moved with his family to Philadelphia, and with Henry M. Hamilton of New Jersey pushed the development of a new line of railcoad to New York in competition with the Pennsylvania Railroad. This was the Delaware and Bound Brook Railroad, which after its completion passed into the hands of the Reading Railroad. SAYS MAXIM IS A BIGAMIST.

NELL MALCOLM, OR HELEN MAXIM, CAUSES THE INVENTOR'S ARREST.

He Admits Part of the Woman's Story, but Denies That There Was Any Marriage-They Met on the Bowery Twenty Years Ago-Maxim's English Wife in Court-A Hearing in Poughkeepsie on Friday. Hiram S. Maxim of the Maxim-Nordenfelt

Company, and the original inventor of the automatic gun, who was arrested on Friday night at the Hotel Manhattan, was arraigned in the manded to the custody of the Poughkeepsie police. Two warrants had been issued for his arrest by Recorder S. H. Brown of Poughkeepsie on charges of bigamy and abandonment made by a woman calling horself Holen Maxim. She de-clared that she had been married to Mr. Maxim on June 28, 1878, before he separated from Jane Budding of Boston, whom he had previously married. She also said he had subsequently married Sarah Haynes in England. Mr. Maxim was arrested by Central Office De-tective Rynders at the request of the Poughkeepsie police. He was bailed out on a bond by ex-Mayor Cooper, approved by Magistrate Cornell, who was brought to Headquarters at l o'clock yesterday morning.

At the hearing in Poughkeepsie Mr. Maxim was released on bail for examination on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Maxim both appeared in court yesterday morning. Mr. Maxim said that a prother who had worked with him on his inventions at one time, and was now jealous at his success, was, he thought, at the bottom of the charges and others that had been made by the same woman in Philadelphia fifteen years ago. He said that at that time he learned ago. He said that at that time he learned enough about her and her associates to preven her appearing against him, and thought he could do so again.

"She is not my wife, and never was." he said vehemently. "I first met her on the Bowery when living with my wife and three children on Union street. Brooklyn. As a matter of fact, it was on account of this woman that my first wife obtained a divorce from me. I never registered her as my wife anywhere. I think she used to register as Mrs. Maxim, but never with my consent. She has been annoying me at intorvals for fifteen years. Once she came to my office in London and would not leave. I was forced to have her put out by my employees. I remember a letter which she got another woman to write me demanding $15,000. I refused absolutely to give it to her, and always will refuse."

Mr. Maxim and his wife have been travelling.

Mr. Maxim and his wife have been travelling among the seaside resorts of New England since the middle of summer. The trip has been in the nature of a vacation for Mr. Maxim. who intended to return to England in about a month to inspect some improvements on his

Joseph Morschauser represented the plaintiff. He was willing to have Mr. Maxim released on nominal ball, but Recorder Brown said: "If this charge of bigamy amounts to anything, it is a serious matter."

The Court fixed bail in the sum of $1,500, and Mr. Lown became surety for that amount. Mr. Battle said: "My client has no statement to make, except that the charges are absolutely false and without foundation, which we are prepared to show." Mr. Maxim leaned back in his chair, and stroking his enowy white beard, remarked: "While I am building up the name of Maxim, other people like to pull it down." After the hearing Mr. Maxim returned to New York.

The affidavit made by Helen Maxim states that Hiram Maxim married her in New York in 1878 and left her in 1881, and has not since contributed to her emport except to give her $200. She further swears that the defendant had issue by her and that said issue is now living, and that since her marriage Mr. Maxim has been a resident of London. England, and away from the jurisdiction of the courts of this State. Helen Maxim, as she now calls herself, is of large frame, a rounded figure, dark hair slightly sprinkled with gray, and expressive gray eyes. She is still a handsome woman, she dreases modestly in black, and wore to-day a straw has twith white top and black rim, covered with a veil. She says that on account of Hiram Maxim's neglect of her she has had to work for a living. She refused to state where her daughter is, except that she had been reared by a wealthy lamily in New York city and is now in New York State.

After his return from Poughkeepsie Jast night, Mr. Maxim was seen at the Hotel Manhattan and asked concerning the letters which the woman says he had written to horat various times up to Aug. 31 last. He said:

"If I was at liberty to tell you as much as I'd like to I'd show that the case must full through at a very early date. Of course, it's brought to injure me personnily and also to injure my will socially. But it's aure to fall through. I never was married to that woman—I want that distinctly understood, This is all my solicitor will permit me to say. I cannot discuss those letters. Unless I pay a certain amount of money the threat has been made that those letters will be given to the published."

At this juncture Mrs. Maxim came into the room and told her husband to say nothing published."

At this juncture Mrs. Maxim came into the room and told her husband to say nothing more about the case.

"You know," she said, "your solicitor has forbidden you to talk about it."

SOLACE BRINGS SICK HERE.

covering-One Henry Watterson's Son.

Forty-six sick and convalescent soldiers from Porto Rico arrived here yesterday morning on the navy hospital ship Solace, in charge of Capt. Dunlap. The Solnce also brought twenty-one sick men from the warships now in Southern waters. The ship sailed from San Juan on Oct. 3, and all of the soldiers brought up on her were received from the general hospital in Ponce. Most of them were suffering from malaria, typhold fever, and rheumatism. Some were not expected to survive the voyage. As a result of Surgeon Street's care of the men, however, the ship reached port without a death to report. reached here, and most of the men were rap-Tompkinsville word was sent to the Army building, and Major Appel went down to meet her with the Government boat Atlantica. All of the soldiers were taken on board the latter vessel and brought up to the pier at the foot of Pacific street, Brooklyn. From there the men were taken to the Long Island College Hospital and St. Peter's Hospital. Of the sick soldiers, Corporal Henry J. Watterson of the First Kentucky Volunteers is a son of Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal. He has had typhoid fever, and has a high temperature still. He is improving steadily, however, and there is little doubt that he will recover. Fifteen of the twenty-one sick men from the warships were taken to the Naval Hospital in came up to her pier at the foot of Pacific street.

Leather Failure in Boston.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 8.-The assignment of Heckman, Bissell & Co., 246 Purchase street, to George W. Brown is reported by the National Shoe and Leather Exchange. The firm has been doing a business in both sole and upper leather of between $500,000 and $750,000 a venr. Mr. Bissell is quoted as saying that the liabilities will be considerably over $100,000. He could not give the amount of the assets. The assignment was due, he said, to the failure of the firm to obtain loans when needed and to losses which have been sustained in recent operations. operations.
